unworthy of her. Your lectures may do her good, though I fear they will be too late to profit me. - I shall feel deeply interested in her future history, & be glad to know that she is occupying somewhere a station of usefulness. Please to give me just such information hereafter as you may think will interest or profit me.

I suppose I shall not get much time to write for your paper, & besides, I fear I am not quite orthodox enough yet for you.

Nothing of interest among us. - Have just had a letter from Br. Lee. - He is well & united. - will be here in Sept on a visit.

Dear Br. Phelps

I owe you much credit for punctuality in answering letters. The sentiments of your last were in accordance with my own, I have not written to Miss B. I do not intend to. Her "queer notions" I think will put an end to all further intercourse between us. I shall not calculate very much upon any change in her views, & shall not wait for it, provided my attention should be directed another way. I am under very great obligations to you, — as great as though your plan had ever so happily succeeded. I think Miss B. ought to be the wife of a minister, but she will certainly have to take a different course, or live an old maid, or what is worse, marry a man of little sense, &
